

Cygnett GrooveTime. You aren't truly in love with your iPod until it becomes the last thing you hear at night and the first thing you hear in the morning. But now there are a number of iPod docking alarm clocks on the market, and Cygnett's GrooveTime is a slick looking option amongst this growing speaker system market.

All the features you'd expect from an alarm clock are here. The clock and AM/FM tuning details are displayed through an on-board LED display, complete with subtle backlight for the darker hours. Your iPod video or nano then docks into the middle of the unit, surround by the stereo speaker system. The GrooveTime also includes a remote control, so it doesn't have to be right by the bedside. And for video buffs, you can even jack the unit into a nearby tv.

White and black options are available to best suit your iPod. The Cygnett GrooveTime retails for $169.95. www.cygnett.com

BUYERS GUIDE SPEAKERS

Cygnett GrooveTime. You aren't truly in love with your iPod until it becomes the last thing you hear at night and the first thing you hear in the morning. But now there are a number of iPod docking alarm clocks on the market, and Cygnett's GrooveTime is a slick looking option amongst this growing speaker system market.

All the features you'd expect from an alarm clock are here. The clock and AM/FM tuning details are displayed through an on-board LED display, complete with subtle backlight for the darker hours. Your iPod video or nano then docks into the middle of the unit, surround by the stereo speaker system. The GrooveTime also includes a remote control, so it doesn't have to be right by the bedside. And for video buffs, you can even jack the unit into a nearby tv.

White and black options are available to best suit your iPod. The Cygnett GrooveTime retails for $169.95. www.cygnett.com

Player Magazine, August, 2006