

Daily Telegraph

latest products > connect 3

what > Bedside iPod dock/
radio/alarm clock
price > $169
from > Cygnett 03 9429 2552
web > cygnett.com

Waking up to the sounds of your favourite iPod music is a pleasure, using the Cygnett GrooveTime as an alarm. It comprises an iPod dock (which also charges your iPod), built-in sound system, alarm clock, FM/AM radio and a remote control. Output is 15W per speaker.

When you thought we had exhausted the number of ways we can communicate another one has popped up on us. The cover story in this week's issue of Connect is a breakdown on podcasting. It's an audio medium but is being used to incorporate videos, photos and weblinks. I sound like a breakthrough, we can download the podcasts in the same way we'd select a shelf in a supermarket and put it in our shopping trolley. These are the podcasts, whatever they are, your iPod or computer at least remains until it's wanted. Now? I have 17 podcasts in the iTunes library. I look like thanks for the article above, but if you're looking to hear what I sound like, go to do it first up the iTunes and type "Connect" into the search area up in the top right-hand corner. Under the Podcasts category you'll see a red icon with a computer mouse on it. Click on the icon and you'll be presented with the list, which covers a variety of topics discussed in this layout. Until now all you've been able to do is read the words on these pages. Well, now we can do things a little differently. Welcome to the newspaper of the 21st century — when we talk now.

editor > Stephen Fenech 9288 2505
e-mail > connect@dailytelegraph.com.au
production > Angela Connel, Cecily Ryan advertising > Terrence Dementiev 9288 3621 page 3 > products compiled by Dave Bullard and Peter Familiari art director > Vinnie Taylor
cover picture > Gary Ramage
cover montage > Franc Conn

Harvey Norman
www.harveynorman.com.au

what > AV receiver
price > $879
from > Panasonic 132 600
web > panasonic.com.au

gather speed, and the latest brand to hop aboard is Panasonic. Its well-priced SA-XR57 is a 7.1-channel receiver with an HDMI connection and processing for Dolby Digital EX, DTS-ES and DTS-NEO.6 surround-sound formats. Rated at 100W per channel, the SA-XR57 carries Panasonic's VIERA Link technology which allows viewers to control compatible Panasonic AV appliances with one remote.

what > Bedside iPod dock/
radio/alarm clock
price > $169
from > Cygnett 03 9429 2552
web > cygnett.com

Waking up to the sounds of your favourite iPod music is a pleasure, using the Cygnett GrooveTime as an alarm. It comprises an iPod dock (which also charges your iPod), built-in sound system, alarm clock, FM/AM radio and a remote control. Output is 15W per speaker.

You've bought a spanking new desktop or notebook computer, but the old one's crammed full of useful files. No sweat, Belkin's impressively built File Transfer Cable is the easy solution. Just link the two computers via the cable and drag the files you want to keep from the old to the new computer. No drivers, no restarts, no worries.

PCWORLD WINNING 2006

Don't be a Loser. Backup your digital life.

LOSER

FROM $249 (2006B RRP)

Now comes with • System Rollback • Sync and Drivelock Security • Firewire/USB 2.0/Windows • PC/Macintosh.

Available from Officeworks, Harris Telemark, Harvey Norman and other selected retailers.

Visit us at www.lo:

THE DAILY TELEGRAPH, www

THE Daily Telegraph
Wednesday, August 16, 2006

ROYAL SQUEEZE
Dirty Harry goes the grope

FINES SOAR
BLITZ ON DISABLED PARKING CHEATS

EXCLUSIVE: LEAGUE STAR BOMBSHELL

JOEY'S READY TO QUIT

Johns set to dump NRL - and Australia

AND WHILE JOHNS COPS IT, DUNCE REF GETS A PROMOTION > SPORT EXCLUSIVE

The Daily Telegraph Connect Magazine
16th August, 2006